

MICHAEL TYLER

Michael Tyler is a self-taught singer-songwriter/ musician since the age of eight. Currently, MT is on tour with Reviver Records label mates LOCASH for Live Nation's 'Ones To Watch' Tour. MT, already a No. 1 songwriter, recently co-penned Dierks Bentley's three-week No. 1 platinum-selling smash "Somewhere on a Beach."

ON TOUR WITH LOCASH

Hailing from Thayer, Missouri which is considered a railroad town, it's ironic that MT is the descendant of the late, great Jimmie Rodgers, known as "The Father of Country Music," who learned his craft around the New Orleans and Northeastern Railroad.

At the age of 13, over a Myspace meeting, MT met award-winning producer Michael Knox (Jason Aldean/ Thomas Rhett/Kelly Clarkson/Trace Adkins). After a few years of sending songs and ideas back and forth, MT came to Nashville, Tenn. to play a show at Tootsies Orchid Lounge for their first face-to-face meeting. At that time, Knox was hired by peermusic Nashville to help restructure the creative department. After watching MT play a few shows, Knox felt it was time for MT to make the move to Nashville as a peermusic songwriter.

In his short time at peermusic, MT has already penned a Jason Aldean cut ("Laid Back") on the platinum-selling record Old Boots New Dirt, three songs on the LOCASH album "The Fighters" ("Shipwrecked," "Ain't Startin Tonight" & "Moonwalkin") and he co-wrote the Jason Aldean/Kelsea Ballerini duet "First Time Again" off Jason Aldean's new album They Don't Know.

The future has just started for this young singer/songwriter who is on the road touring all over the nation with his energetic live show.
